

This summer, work for change

(change in the White House)

Political and social organizations around the country are coming together to help defeat Bush this November.

Interested in joining us?

If you're a student, you can volunteer in your choice of 17 swing states in exchange for free room and board.

Visit www.standorg.org

If you'd like to host volunteers in your home, or request them for your political organization, visit www.standorg.org

And if you wish you could help, but have your summer planned already, you can still take the most important action of all: register and vote this November 2nd!
